

Draft Program: all details to be confirmed

ncse symposium 2007

ncse: Digitising Journalism

A one-day symposium exploring the transformation of journalism into digital form.

Centre for Computing in the Humanities, 24 February 2006/7.

www.ncse.kcl.ac.uk

Draft Program: all details to be confirmed

Program

09:30 Registration and refreshments.

10:15 Introduction: Harold Short

tbc

10:30 Session One: ncse

Laurel Brake, Jim Mussell, Suzanne Paylor (title tbc)

11:30 Tea and Coffee

11:40 Session Two: demonstration session

This will be an opportunity to experiment with the ncse materials so far

12:30 Session Three: Jerome McGann

title tbc

13:30 Lunch

14:15 Session Four: panel presentation “Digitising Journalism”

Isobel Armstrong, Gerhard Bray, and Joanne Shattock (titles tbc)

15:15 Tea and Coffee

15:30 Session Four: Ed King

title tbc

16:00 Session Five: Hilary Fraser

title tbc

16:30 Final discussion

18:30 Symposium ends.

We will organize a dinner in the evening. Details (venue and cost) will be added when available.

Directions and Travel:

The symposium will be held in the Seminar Room, Centre for Computing in the Humanities, King's College London. The address is:

Centre for Computing in the Humanities,
Kay House,
7 Arundel Street,
London,
WC2R 3DX

A map of the symposium venue and the surrounding area is available from the CCH website at:

<http://www.kcl.ac.uk/schools/humanities/cch/about/where.html>

Travel directions to the campus can be found here: <http://journeyplanner.tfl.gov.uk> and entering "Kay House" or "WC2R 3DX" as the destination.

